A COMPLIMENTARY BALL

Inst Wednesday night. A ball at this famous Southern watering plate of any kind is something to be remembered as one of the events of one's life. The gay capthals of Europe do not surpass the "White" for beauty, intellect and "nothing to wear." The creatures of my sex displayed on the sea considerate a seven days' wonder in the way of richness, color and variety, and elaborate in the make and "got up." Some of the fair demonstles literally sparkle all over with displayed on them from mother to daughter.

"Of purest ray screen" for generations long gone. Their grace, their courtly dignity and quently demonitor are in perfect keeping with their culture, beauty and refinement. The one of which I now chronicle was not inferior to any previous affairs in this respect for the number of pervious affairs in this respect for the the mnd gallop, it presented a truly fairy no, and the pleasures of the spectators were nost as great as that of the participants. The Il flowers I will not stop to number, but of the

During all this delay the fire was gaining great headway, and by the arrival of the first department had spread to the stables adjoining, five in number.

After his arrival on the ground the chief engineer, seeing the danger of a serious conflagration, wang to the combustible material of which it he buildings were constructed, and also that of the surroundings, ordered a general alarm to be turned in. Almost instantly on the arrival of the first department the sugines were in service and adding bod work in suppressing the flames. The extent of the damage were five stables, belonging to D. Collins, J. Collins T. Collins, R. Thompson and first Fitsgeraid, with an estimated loss of $1,500. The flames spread from the stables to the dwelling houses belonging to Thes. Mann and Mrs. Honchell was also seriously injured. There was but little in finurance on the property, and the fire department of the flames also seriously injured.

street lost two little children. They had been the joy of her declining years and a great consolation to her widewed condition. Being in rather good circumstances she applied to the Board of Health for assistance in making proper burial arrangements. A kind-hearted and goodly number of that highly bonedicial and sanitary institution lumediately directed her to the well-known gentleman who undertakes for the board many things which the same would not undertake for liself for two coffins. This poor lone widow wended her weary way to the undertakes's establishment only to find that it was impossible for her to receive the necessary wherewith in which to ensast the lifeless forms of her beloved dead without a burial permit, &o., from ye saithriess board. Hack she hastened to ye meet homorable knight of the pill bag, but he hand fled and was nowhere to be found. The infants when last heard from were patiently waiting for their beres, and the hinfortunate widow was swearing in a delicate womanly way about the imattention of ye homorable board and the difficulty of getting two shaggy little notched-oyed lap dogs buried whose barks were lost forever on the troubled see of life.

COURTSHIP AND MATRIMONY IN GERMANY.

[Berlin Correspondence of London News.]
In default of a public announcement of a betrothal, people in the habit of watching the trothal, people in the habit of watching the actors from evening to evening may tell by one infallible sign when the happy climax is reached. As soon as the swain begins to pay the young lady's reckoning in addition to his own, depend on it they are engaged. Up to that time the maiden's Gansebraten has been reakoned at the close of every evening with the account of the family, and paid for by the fond parent; but now the burden has been lightened. The future son-in-law meets his sweetheart's expenses, but them alone. Even if there be nobody else with them but the mother, she always pays her own bill. Night after night one may see at the same restaurant.

politician of note in one of the Carolinas, and served as an officer in the army of the Confederacy. The war ended as disastrously for him as for others, and he sought to better his fortunes in the North; and since the war, a portion of his time, held the position of drummer for one of our largest mercantile houses. But three years ago, however, he became infatuated with a woman of the world, and the twain began to lead a rather sunnicious and not alto. gan to lead a rather suspicious and not alto-gether strictly honorable life. She soon di-vested him of money, reputation, position and friends, and then descried her lord to his fate. Iriends, and then deserted her lord to his fate. Needless to add the couple quarreled, and in default of ball to keep the peace the Southerner was sent to prison. Here he suffered the disgrace of confinement until yesterday, when some kind persons, who had befriended him in other days, sought and procured his release.—
